Exchange your knowledge on ecological, energy-efficient construction with experts from various EU-projects

The conference program is tightly structured and methodically focused, so that an intensive exchange between the participants takes place and tangible results can be achieved. In order to implement environmental policy goals, politics require efficient tools. The reduction of energy consumption and CO² emission requires urgent measures.

After a brief introduction of the three topics in form of keynote speeches the topics will be intensively discussed in small groups in the form of a World-Café. In regular intervals the results and interim results will be reported about in the plenum.

Energy-World-Café main topics

- Teaching and learning in the context of ecological construction
- The role of public authorities as model in ecological building
- Energy-plus house - possible developments to produce energy
